I love the way light in the sky changes our perception of the world around us! Light and clouds can create such amazing mood and drama! There are fleeting moments in light that the Sun can give us as gifts every morning and evening if we are lucky enough to look up! Always take a moment in your day to look up and enjoy it! It connects us with our lives and nature!

I hope to share a few impressions and expressions of some of those gifts that I have been privileged to see. Please enjoy and share this art experience with your family and friends! I hope it is the high point of your day I am grateful for the opportunity to share these pieces with you. Thank You!
